The Guinness Book of World Records: ‘The largest PA system—on 20 August 1988, at Castle Donington ‘Monsters of Rock’ Festival, a total of 360 Turbosound cabinets offering a potential 523 kW of programme power, formed the largest ever front-of-house PA. The average Sound Pressure Level at the mixing tower was 118 dB, peaking at a maximum of 124 dB during Iron Maiden’s set.’

Worldwide Acclaim

Such was Turbosound's international success that the TMS-3 was widely copied, hijacking a patented product design down to the last detail. In Canada, a successful legal case resulted in a local company's TMS- 3 copies being publicly chain sawed.

"The band performed through a crystalline sound system flanking the enormous stage."

Joel Selvin, San Francisco Chronicle

"A quadraphonic sound system that rendered the 27-year-old band's music with fidelity previously unheard in stadiums."

Sam Wood, Philadelphia Enquirer

The Pink Floyd 1994 World Tour

"...and the monstrous speaker system produced the delicate sound of Pink Floyd's thunderous music nearly to perfection."

Gerald Defilth,
Pittsburgh Tribune Review,
June 1, 1994

"...a quadraphonic sound system that was near perfection."

Exclusively Turbosound.

"...pristine high-fidelity sound..."
Jim DeRogatis, Chicago Sun-Times,
July 14, 1994

"Production ruled the performance, and the sound quality was nothing short of amazing. When Tim Renwick strummed his acoustic guitar to start 'Wish You Were Here', the strings snapped crisply and clearly, as if he was sitting in his living room in front of the fire."

Joel Selvin,
San Francisco Chronicle,
April 22, 1994

"...The sound may have been the true star of the show, however... No rock band can match Pink Floyd when it comes to making a stadium show come off sounding as if it's being held in your living room."

Cleveland Plain Dealer,
May 27, 1994

Photos: On May 8, 1994, Pink Floyd played to a sold-out audience of nearly 50,000 at Vanderbilt Stadium, Nashville, TN. With Britannia Row & Turbosound, there wasn't a bad seat in the house.

Turbosound
Once Heard, Never Forgotten.

The quadraphonic reinforcement system for Pink Floyd's worldwide 'The Division Bell' tour consists exclusively of Turbosound Flashlight and Floodlight enclosures, loudspeaker management systems, BSS/Turbosound amplifier racks, rigging and cabling.

The Quadruple Bottom Line

Spoiled
by Choice.

Choices, choices, CHOICES!

What I've learned so far...

Wealth without emotional connection is hollow.

What I've learned so far...

Money can create illusion—
and delusion.

What I've learned so far...

Obsession with money distorts decision-making.

What I've learned so far...

True value comes from purpose, not profit.

Invitation

Over the next few days think about and discuss your relationship with money.

For example, you could ask yourself “On a scale of 1 – 10 how obsessed am I about money?”

You couldn't be in a better environment to do this!

And finally...
